

SEES THE DEAD FACE FURY LED TO DEATH

Of the Brother He Murdered and Has No Peace Since the Homicide.

AWFUL CRIME OF CLYDE WHITTAL

George Cornell Goes to Work with a Presentiment and Is Carried Home—News Items.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 1. — Clyde Whittal, who stabbed his brother to death in Sparta, is in a pitiable condition, suffering the tortures of remorse. He has not been able to sleep since he was locked up in the county jail. He begs of the jail authorities not to turn off the lights. He says he will go crazy if left in the dark, as the face of his dead brother is constantly before him. In the fear that he might commit suicide, everything that he might use for this purpose has been removed from the cell.

Murdered Man's Sweetheart Mourns.

When the father and son parted at the jail Clyde sobbed piteously and begged his father to ask everybody not to think too hardly of what he had done. Arthur was engaged to be married to Miss Muriel Wolven, and the wedding was to have taken place April 15. Miss Wolven is an estimable girl 17 years of age, who lives at Rockford. She was in the city Friday afternoon, taking the teachers' examination at the Central high school, when she learned of the tragedy. With her mother, she drove to the Whittal home, and knelt at the bedside of her dying lover, praying that his life might be spared. When the end came she was prostrated by grief.

"Jack the Huggie" Busy.

Bay City, Mich., April 1.—"Jack the Huggie" is busy in the east end. A young lady returning from a visit with Mrs. Petronella Simon on Sixth avenue was frightened into hysterics by a tall, smooth-faced man who stepped from behind a telegraph pole and attempted to seize her. Failing in this, he laughed heartily and chased her a short distance. She ran back to Mrs. Simon's home, but by the time she was able to explain the cause of her fright, the fellow had disappeared.

Car Robbers Before the Court.

Port Huron, Mich., April 1.—Of the five railroaders arrested Saturday for breaking into and robbing Grand Trunk freight cars in transit, William Hickey and Harold H. Hecy pleaded guilty. HIS PRESENTIMENT CAME TRUE

George Cornell Has a Close Call for a Horrible Death—His Leg Is Badly Mangled.

Traverse City, Mich., April 1.—Geo. Cornell, employed in J. E. Gredlick & Co.'s factory, was handling shingle bolts while standing above an endless chain which carries logs up into the mill. His foot slipped and was caught by the chain, which dragged it through a small hole. It was some time before the machinery could be stopped.

Had not been for a man who held him Cornell would have been dismembered. His leg was horribly mangled, and he may lose it. He is married and has children. He had had a presentiment that an accident was about to befall him, and he was planning to quit work in the mill.

Fire Destroys a Hotel.

Central Lake, Mich., April 1. — At 5 o'clock in the morning the Central hotel, managed by E. E. Cooper, caught fire. The hotel was consumed, the loss on building and furniture being about $4,000 and the insurance on the building $1,000. McLaughlin's loss was $500; Hutton's $500; Dowd's $250.

The company agreed to the increase under protest, pending a general settlement of the strike.

Youth in a Rage Goes to His Room and Dies a Suicide.

PROSTRATED BY A WINTER BOG

One Man Is Insane; Another Case Is Not So Severe—Michigan News Notes.

Marine City, Mich., March 31.—Fifteen-year-old Arthur Wellhausen was shot in the head and killed Sunday morning. Some say he committed suicide; his parents assert that the shot was fired accidentally. Arthur, who lived on his parents' farm in the suburbs, had been preparing for his first communion in the Lutheran church. As he was not studious, but somewhat slow of apprehension, and possessed of a disposition that made him resentful of the effort to instruct him thoroughly in the principles of his religious faith, he was none too well prepared for the ceremony.

Save an Exhibition of Fury.

The final examination and the administering of the sacrament to the class of which he was a member were set for Sunday morning, but Arthur told his mother that he would not go to the church because he would simply make a show of himself by trying to answer the questions to be asked. His parents commanded him to go, and after giving an exhibition of fury he went up to his room, ostensibly to dress himself.

Wound Up by Killing Himself.

A few moments afterward a shot was heard. The members of the family ran up to the boy's room and found him lying on his bed, a rifle beside him and a bullet hole in his temple. It was because of the violence of his temper which he had habitually displayed in his intercourse with other children that the neighbors reached the conclusion that the boy had killed himself.

TWO BITTEN BY WINTER BUGS

Polish Farmer Made a Maniac by the Insect—Entomologist Prostrated, but Not Insane.

Mendon, Mich., March 30. — Oscar Newasky, a young Polish farmer near here, became a maniac as the result of a bite by a winter bug. The day after he was bitten his body began to swell and physicians have been unable to give him relief. Professor De Vos Olinberg, entomologist, came here at the request of the National museum at Washington to procure specimens of the bug.

He found a nest of the insects in a bog near Newasky's home, and while trying to capture them was bitten on the chin, and within an hour was in semi-conscious condition. Olinberg does not show the symptoms of insanity that appeared in Newasky's case, and the physicians are hopeful of his recovery.

They favored also a change in the law so that a deer hunter would be permitted to kill only two deer instead of three.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."
